Introduction & Ethos

Forward Education Trust is committed to making school attendance a whole-school priority, fully integrated with every aspect of school improvement rather than treated as a stand-alone administrative task. We use an Inclusive Attendance model to support children and families to connect, belong and thrive — built on child-centred action, evidence-informed practice, and a shared understanding of everyone's role in promoting excellent attendance.

Attendance concerns will be explored through a holistic assessment of need and not solely through attendance percentages. The Trust recognises that attendance barriers can arise from a range of factors, including medical, developmental, sensory, communication, emotional, practical and environmental needs. These will be considered when planning support to improve attendance and engagement.

Attendance cannot be considered in isolation. The Department for Education's statutory guidance connects effective attendance practice directly with curriculum, behaviour, bullying, SEND support, pastoral provision, mental health and wellbeing, safeguarding, disadvantage and the effective use of resources including pupil premium. This policy is written on that basis: attendance is treated as an output of the whole school system, not a separate compliance exercise.

Our attendance strategy reflects the DfE's attendance framework:

- Expect attendance
- Monitor attendance
- Listen to and understand barriers
- Facilitate support
- Formalise support where required
- Enforce only where support has been exhausted or is not engaged with

The Inclusive Attendance Model

Our attendance work sits across six connected domains of practice. Rather than a stand-alone attendance procedure, these domains ensure the provision of professional learning, evidence-based practice, and exemplary leadership and management are integrated into everything we do.

Equity, equality, inclusion	Understanding attendance barriers	A systems approach
Mental health & resilience	Curriculum & teaching	Identify specialist pathway

Statutory Context

This policy meets the requirements of Working Together to Improve School Attendance (July 2026), the Department for Education's statutory guidance for maintained schools, academies, independent schools and Local Authorities. It should be read alongside statutory guidance on children missing education, pupils with medical conditions, children unable to attend because of health needs, suspension and permanent exclusion, alternative provision, and Keeping Children Safe in Education.

Our approach: from universal provision to legal intervention

Rather than building this policy primarily around percentages, letters and sanctions, we structure our attendance work as a graduated, multi-tiered system of support (MTSS) — right support, right time, for every child and young person.

A Multi-Tiered System of Support (MTSS) is an educational framework that offers a structured approach to addressing children's diverse needs. It involves delivering interventions and support in a tiered manner, with each tier representing a different level of intensity and targeted assistance. The diagram below sets out the model at a glance; the table that follow set out how we put it into practice day to day.

INCLUSIVE ATTENDANCE: A MULTI-TIERED SYSTEM OF SUPPORT

EVERY CHILD · EVERY DAY · EVERY OPPORTUNITY

From three tiers to five practical stages

In day-to-day case management, universal, targeted and specialist support are worked through in five connected stages — adding an explicit identification-and-understanding-barriers stage between universal and targeted support and separating legal intervention out as the last-resort stage it is, used only once every reasonable step above it has been tried.

STAGE 1 Universal Provision – All pupils, every day

- High-quality, inclusive teaching and a curriculum that engages every learner
- A culture of belonging, strong relationships and consistent, positive behaviour management
- Accurate, consistent registration and whole-school attendance monitoring
- Clear communication with families about expectations and support available

STAGE 2 Identification & Understanding Barriers – Spotting concerns early and asking why

- Regular analysis of attendance data at whole-school, group and individual level
- Priority cohorts identified: SEND, disadvantaged, young carers, children with a social worker, previously looked after
- Understanding the specific barrier behind the absence, not just the percentage
- Early, non-judgemental conversations with pupils and families

STAGE 3 Early & Targeted Support – Pupils at risk of persistent absence

- Individual attendance support plans, agreed with the family
- Mentoring, pastoral check-ins and small-group interventions
- Reasonable adjustments for SEND, medical need or other identified barriers
- Regular review with the family of what is working

STAGE 4 Intensive & Multi-Agency Support – Persistent or severe absence

- Multi-agency planning — Local Authority, social care, health and other partners as needed

- Personalised, evidence-informed plans addressing complex or multiple barriers
- Attendance contracts as a supportive, non-punitive route where engagement has stalled
- Considered as part of a reintegration or re-engagement plan, not a stand-alone response

STAGE 5 Legal Intervention – Only where all reasonable support has been tried

- Education Supervision Order considered only once voluntary support has been exhausted
- Penalty notices issued in line with the national framework and Local Authority code of conduct
- Prosecution as a last resort, following the Local Authority's statutory process
- Legal routes never replace, and are never used instead of, addressing the underlying barrier

Promoting & Recognising Good Attendance

Good and regular attendance is promoted through everyday culture and belonging, not primarily through prizes or sanctions. The approach of the Trust is focused on recognition being positive, consistent and inclusive of pupils facing additional barriers, so that no pupil is disadvantaged by circumstances outside their control.

- Attendance is talked about positively and often, by teaching and non-teaching staff alike, as part of everyday relationships rather than only at data points.
- Individual, class and whole-school achievements are recognised regularly — including meaningful improvement from a pupil's own starting point, not only high overall percentages.
- Recognition avoids approaches that could stigmatise, single out or financially disadvantage pupils with a legitimate reason for absence, such as a disability, medical condition or caring responsibility.
- Pupils and families are told clearly why attendance matters for learning, wellbeing and life chances — not only that it is a rule to be followed.
- Parents, carers and — where the school is part of a multi-academy trust — the trust are kept informed of how the school promotes attendance, alongside its data and its support offer.

For details of our recognition and reward approach to attendance, please see Appendix 3.

Roles & Responsibilities

Ensuring good attendance is the responsibility of everyone within the school community. The table below provides an overview of responsibilities:

Who	Key responsibilities for attendance
Parents and carers	• Are expected to establish a daily routine that supports regular, punctual attendance. • Ensure their child attends regularly and arrives on time, in line with school registration requirements. • To communicate promptly with the school about absence and notify the school on the first day of absence and provide the reason.

	• Request leave of absence in advance and understand that term-time leave is only granted in exceptional circumstances. • Work with the school to understand and address any barrier to attendance. • To engage with meetings and support offered. • To understand that term-time leave of absence is granted only in exceptional circumstances, assessed individually.
Pupils	• Attend school regularly and arrive on time, so far as is reasonably within their control. • Are supported to understand the value of attending school regularly and on time. • Are encouraged and supported to communicate difficulties to a trusted adult. • Are encouraged and supported to engage with the support that is put in place for them. • Are supported to understand that where a barrier to attendance exists, it is the adults around them who hold primary responsibility for removing it.
Class teachers teaching assistants, learning mentors, pastoral staff, office and administrative staff, lunch supervisors and site staff	• Take an accurate register at the same time for all pupils, every session (Classroom lead). • Know their pupils well enough to notice a change in attendance early (Staff in regular contact with pupils). • Report concerns promptly to the Attendance Champion or designated safeguarding lead. • Apply reasonable adjustments for pupils with SEND, medical needs or other identified barriers (Staff in regular contact with pupils. • Monitor daily attendance, promote punctuality, and take immediate action (Staff in regular contact with pupils. • Identify early patterns of poor attendance or lateness (Staff in regular contact with pupils. • Maintain open communication with families and provide the academic and emotional support that helps a pupil overcome a barrier to attending (Staff in regular contact with pupils. • Are alert to safeguarding concerns connected to attendance and know how to report them.
Senior Attendance Champion / senior leaders	• Lead by example, the day-to-day implementation of this policy, and support staff to implement the whole-school attendance strategy. • Analyse attendance data regularly, by cohort and by individual pupil, and target support accordingly to identify trends and those requiring early intervention and support. • Ensure staff receive the training they need, and that safeguarding and attendance systems are properly connected. • Ensure staff receive appropriate professional development and give particular attention to vulnerable pupils — including those with medical conditions, SEND, those using specialist transport, awaiting placement review or safeguarding concerns.

	• Report to senior leaders, the Trust Safeguarding & Attendance lead and the local authority on attendance, impact and priority cohorts. • Set the tone for the school's attendance culture. • Apply this policy consistently and fairly, and work with the designated safeguarding lead where attendance concerns raise child protection issues. • Ensure legal compliance and are vigilant for safeguarding concerns connected to attendance. • Ensure there are regular meetings to explore attendance data and safeguarding concerns.
Designated Safeguarding Lead	• Ensure unexplained or extended absence is treated as a possible safeguarding signal, not only a data point. • Lead escalation to children's social care, the Local Authority or other agencies where required. • Work with the Attendance team so that safeguarding and attendance information is shared without delay.
SENCO	• Ensure attendance barriers linked to SEND are understood and addressed through the graduated response. • Advise on reasonable adjustments to attendance strategies for individual pupils. • Work with families and external professionals to remove barriers rather than manage their consequences. • To have an overview of interventions appropriate for pupils needs.
Trust Board	• Scrutinise attendance culture, practice and procedures as a strategic priority, offering rigorous challenge and oversight in line with national statutory guidelines and government targets • Ensure staff receive adequate attendance-related training and share effective practice with other schools.
Local Authority	• Provide strategic leadership and support to schools in improving attendance. • Lead statutory functions including Children Missing Education, School Attendance Orders and penalty notices. • Work with schools and partners to identify and support pupils and families who need it most.

Safeguarding & Attendance

The principle - Unexplained or extended absence is one of the clearest safeguarding signals a school receives. It is treated as a possible safeguarding concern first, and an attendance statistic second.

This connection runs through the whole of this policy, not only this section. Staff at every level are expected to understand the relationship between attendance and:

- Unexplained or repeated absence, and children missing education.
- Vulnerability, exploitation, neglect and domestic abuse.
- Contextual safeguarding — risks pupils may face outside the school gates.
- Children with a social worker, on a child protection plan, or previously looked after.
- Share information with the attendance and safeguarding team, without delay.

- Ensure the same-day follow-up on unexplained absence, and clear escalation routes.

This policy operates in line with Keeping Children Safe in Education, which applies the same core safeguarding expectations to all staff, and the Department for Education's guidance on attendance responsibilities, recognising the close relationship between attendance, wellbeing and safeguarding.

At Forward Education Trust , the Trust's Attendance Safeguarding Protocols are applied to pupils with social care involvement and to those for whom safeguarding concerns have been identified - See Appendix 5: FET Attendance Safeguarding Protocols.

SEND & Inclusion

For many pupils with special educational needs and disabilities, poor attendance is not a behaviour or motivation issue — it is a sign that a need is not being met. This policy requires reasonable adjustments, not punitive responses, wherever absence relates to unmet need.

- Attendance barriers relating to SEND are addressed through the graduated response — assess, plan, do, review.
- The SENCo is involved wherever a pupil's SEND may be contributing to their absence.
- Attendance is explicitly addressed within EHC plans and support plans, so families understand what is available.
- Reasonable adjustments are reviewed regularly, not fixed once and left unchanged.
- Where absence may be linked to SEND, disability, anxiety, medical needs or unmet need, the school will ensure robust assessment, reasonable adjustments and evidence of support are in place before considering formal attendance measures. Any statutory action will take account of the school's duties under the Equality Act 2010 and SEND Code of Practice.

Disadvantage and pupil premium

Disadvantage funding is only as effective as the gap it closes. Where disadvantage is linked to an attendance barrier, that link is made explicit — from identified barrier to evidence-informed activity, to the school's published pupil premium strategy, to measured impact.

Our pupil premium strategy statement, published annually, sets out how pupil premium funding is used to support attendance for disadvantaged pupils. It is available on each school's website.

Young carers

Young carers are identified explicitly, rather than absorbed into a general category of "vulnerable pupils". Staff are alert to the specific pressures young carers face, and attendance support is shaped around their caring responsibilities rather than assuming non-attendance reflects a lack of engagement.

This sits alongside our approach to other cohorts known to be at greater risk of poor attendance: children in need, children on a child protection plan, looked-after children, and care leavers — reflecting the Department for Education's non-statutory guidance on improving the attendance of children with a social worker.

Medical conditions and health needs

Pupils with medical conditions are supported through individual healthcare plans, reasonable support, and clear communication with health professionals — so that a medical condition does not, in itself, become an unnecessary barrier to attendance.

Where a pupil is unable to attend school because of health needs and absence reaches, or is expected to reach, 15 school days — whether consecutive or cumulative — the school works with the Local Authority to arrange suitable alternative education under section 19 of the Education Act 1996, with a clear plan for reintegration. However, the school will not wait for 15 days to begin planning support where absence is expected to reach this threshold.

Mental health and wellbeing

Mental health difficulties do not mean attendance stops being important — but the response to them must be individualised, supportive and appropriately adjusted, never a standard sanction applied regardless of cause. Staff are trained to recognise early signs of anxiety, emotionally based school avoidance, low mood or other difficulty that may affect attendance, and to work with pupils, families and, where needed, external agencies.

Behaviour and culture

Behaviour and attendance are closely linked: a pupil who does not feel safe, or does not feel they belong, is far less likely to want to attend. Our Behaviour and Relationships Policy and this attendance policy are designed to work together — building a culture of clear expectations, strong relationships, effective SEND support, and safe environments, and avoiding any practice that unintentionally pushes a vulnerable pupil away from school.

Curriculum, teaching and RSHE

Attendance is not only secured at the school gate — it is won or lost lesson by lesson. An engaging, accessible curriculum, high-quality adaptive teaching, and strong teacher-pupil relationships are treated as universal attendance provision, not an optional extra. This reflects the Teachers' Standards, and the Inclusive Mainstream Fund's requirement for high-quality adaptive teaching with a curriculum designed for all learners.

From September 2026, our Relationships, Sex and Health Education provision, including Health Education, contributes to the preventative side of attendance — building the health literacy, relationships and sense of wellbeing that underpin a pupil's sense of belonging in school.

Home-to-school travel

Transport is recognised as a genuine potential barrier to attendance, not assumed to reflect parental unwillingness. This is particularly relevant for pupils with SEND, those living furthest from school, families on a low income, pupils with mobility needs, and those attending specialist provision. Any transport-related barrier identified is addressed alongside the Local Authority's home-to-school travel duties.

Using data to target improvement

Attendance data is analysed regularly at whole-school, year-group, demographic and individual pupil level, benchmarked against national and Local Authority comparators. Particular attention is given to:

- Pupils with SEND, and those eligible for free school meals or pupil premium.
- Year groups of concern.
- Looked-after children, previously looked-after children and care leavers.
- Pupils with an allocated social worker or known to children's social care.
- Young carers.
- Pupils absent for prolonged or repeated periods, which may indicate a safeguarding concern such as child sexual or criminal exploitation, particularly county lines.
- Pupils at risk of persistent or severe absence.

How we use data: a targeted approach
Using attendance data effectively starts with building a holistic understanding of pupils and families — not simply monitoring a percentage. Our approach follows five connected steps:

1. Build a culture of community and belonging.
2. Communicate effectively with families.
3. Improve universal provision for all pupils.
4. Deliver targeted interventions.
5. Monitor the impact of approaches.

Understanding risk of persistent absence
The two reference tables below help staff translate raw absence figures into an early, consistent view of risk — used alongside professional judgement and the additional factors known about each pupil, never as a mechanical trigger on its own.

Table 1: days absent and risk of persistent absence (PA)

Days absent (cumulative)	Risk of PA level	Additional factors
1 – 4 days	Low (Risk of PA)	ADDITIONAL FACTORS Risk and protective factors, patterns in previous absence, SEND or free-school-meals demographic, and external agency involvement all inform how this risk level is used.
5 – 9 days	Emerging (Risk of PA)
10 – 14 days	Moderate (Risk of PA)
15 – 18 days	High (Risk of PA)
19+ days	Locked into PA

Table 2: spells of absence and risk of persistent absence (PA)

Number of spells of absence	Risk of PA level
1	Low (Risk of PA)
2	Low (Risk of PA)
3	Moderate (Risk of PA)
4	Moderate (Risk of PA)
5	High (Risk of PA)
6 or above	High (Risk of PA)

Persistent and severe absence — definitions
A pupil is considered persistently absent (PA) when their attendance rate is 90% or below — that is, they have missed 10% or more of possible school sessions. A pupil is considered severely absent (SA) when they are absent from school more than they are present, missing 50% or more of possible sessions. Severely absent pupils are likely to need the most intensive, multi-agency support.

Leave of absence, illness and remote education

- Leave of absence - Requests for leave of absence must be made in writing at least 10 school days in advance. Term-time leave is only authorised in exceptional circumstances, and every request is considered individually on its own facts — this school does not operate a blanket or automatic policy for any category of request, in line with the July 2026 Working Together guidance.

- Illness absence - Where a pupil is absent due to illness, the school does not request medical evidence as a matter of routine. Evidence may be requested where it is reasonable and appropriate to do so — for example, where a pattern of illness absence is of concern, or where evidence would support a wider plan of support.

- Remote education - Remote education is not treated as an equal alternative to attendance. It is used only as a last resort, once it is clear a pupil cannot attend school, and — where used for an individual pupil — it forms part of a reintegration plan that is reviewed regularly. A pupil receiving remote education because they are absent is still recorded as absent.

Authorised Absence

Authorised absences may include illness, medical or dental appointments that cannot be arranged outside school hours, recognised religious or cultural observances, and exceptional family emergencies, where appropriate authorisation has been granted by the school.

Unauthorised Absence

Unauthorised absences may include absences where no satisfactory explanation has been provided, arrival after the register has closed, absences for shopping, caring for siblings, birthdays or other non-essential activities, and term-time holidays or day trips that have not been authorised by the school.

Support Before Sanction

Legal routes are used only where genuine, sustained support has not resolved a pattern of absence — never as a first response. Response to patterns of absence may include:

- Attendance contract or support plan — Contract - a formal, voluntary agreement between parents and the school or Local Authority, offering support as an alternative to prosecution. Support plan — a structured plan developed with the pupil and family to include their voice, identify barriers to attendance, explores protective factors, set clear agreed actions, and outline the support, and monitoring arrangements needed to improve attendance and sustain engagement in education.
- Notice to Improve — a formal written notice, issued before any penalty notice, giving the family a set period in which to improve attendance with continued support.
- Education Supervision Order (ESO) — considered only once voluntary support and attendance contracts have been exhausted, and only where it would benefit the pupil and parent.

- Penalty notices — issued in line with the national framework for penalty notices and the Local Authority's code of conduct, and only where a Notice to Improve has not resulted in the necessary improvement.
- Parenting Order — may be sought by the Local Authority where parental engagement with support has not improved a pattern of absence.
- Prosecution — a last resort, led by the Local Authority, for failure to secure regular attendance or comply with a School Attendance Order or Education Supervision Order.

Children missing education and removal from roll

Persistent or unexplained absence can, in some circumstances, lead to a child being identified as missing education. This school follows the strengthened Children Missing Education statutory guidance (September 2025) and works with the Local Authority to track and support any pupil who may be missing education, before any consideration of removal from roll.

- Child missing education

1. School undertakes reasonable enquiries to locate the child and family. This may include telephone calls, emails, letters, home visits, checking contacts, and liaising with other professionals.
2. If the child's whereabouts remain unknown, the school submits a CME referral to the Children Missing Education Service using the Local Authority referral form. Referrals should be sent securely via email.
3. The CME team carries out further checks and investigations, working with other agencies and local authorities where appropriate to establish the child's location and educational provision.
4. Schools must not remove a pupil from roll until the appropriate CME process has been followed and advice has been obtained from the CME team.
5. If the child is located, arrangements are made to ensure they are receiving suitable education, whether through a new school placement or another lawful form of education.

- Unlawful Practice

Informal or unofficial exclusion — removing a pupil from roll or asking a family to keep a pupil at home, outside of the formal, recorded process — is unlawful and is never used by this school.

- Removal from roll procedures

Before removing a pupil from roll, schools must complete reasonable enquiries to establish the child's whereabouts, make a referral to the Local Authorities CME Service where appropriate, and ensure all statutory requirements for deletion from the admission register have been met.

1. Undertake reasonable enquiries to locate the child and family, including calls, emails, letters, emergency contacts, home visits, and liaison with other agencies.
2. Make a referral to the Children Missing Education (CME) Service if the child's whereabouts remain unknown. The referral should be sent securely to cme@birmingham.gov.uk.
3. Do not remove the pupil from roll before consulting the CME team and completing the appropriate statutory process. Schools are specifically advised to contact CME before deletion from the register.
4. Once the legal grounds for deletion under the School Attendance (Pupil Registration) (England) Regulations 2024 have been met and the necessary enquiries completed, the school can remove the pupil from roll and notify the local authority as required.

- Elective Home Education

Where a parent elects to home educate a child with an Education, Health and Care Plan (EHCP), the school must notify the Local Authority and follow local procedures. Pupils attending a special school must not be removed from roll until Local Authority consent has been obtained. The EHCP remains in place and continues to be maintained and reviewed by the Local Authority.

1. The parent submits a request for Elective Home Education (EHE).
2. The school meets with the parent/carer to discuss the EHE process, expectations, and available support.
3. The school considers any safeguarding concerns, attendance issues, or welfare considerations.
4. The school notifies the Local Authority and relevant SEND/EHCP teams.
5. For pupils attending a special school, the Local Authority must consider the request and provide consent before the pupil can be removed from roll.
6. The pupil must remain on roll until Local Authority consent has been received and the school has been advised that removal from roll can proceed.
7. The EHCP remains in force and continues to be maintained and reviewed by the Local Authority.

Alternative provision

Where a pupil attends alternative provision, the commissioning school retains responsibility for monitoring attendance, safeguarding and quality, and for planning reintegration. Dual registration is used and monitored appropriately.

Following the July 2026 update to statutory guidance on suspension and permanent exclusion, alternative provision is arranged within six school days of a suspension, using the correct attendance code, with attendance monitored closely on a pupil's return and a clear reintegration plan in place. Off rolling is not practised by this school.

Governance

Working Together to Improve School Attendance sets out a specific chapter for governing Trust Boards where a school is part of a multi-academy trust. Forward Education's Trust Board, is expected to:

- Recognise attendance as a strategic priority, promoted through ethos and policy, not only through this document.
- Ensure senior leaders fulfil their statutory attendance responsibilities.
- Regularly review and challenge attendance data, with particular attention to priority cohorts and persistent or severe absence.
- Ensure Governors and staff receive adequate attendance training.
- Share effective attendance practice with other schools, as part of wider system leadership.

Professional development for all staff

The Trust Board and senior leaders assure themselves that staff receive adequate attendance training, in line with statutory expectations and Ofsted's evidence base linking attendance to the Teachers' Standards and staff expertise. Development includes:

- Inclusive attendance accredited training delivered across the academic year.
- Induction training on this policy and on attendance codes for all new staff.
- Whole-staff development on the link between attendance, safeguarding, SEND and wellbeing.
- Role-specific development for the Attendance Champion and pastoral staff.
- Updates whenever national or local guidance changes.
- Sufficient expertise for staff undertaking targeted or intensive attendance work.

Linked policies and review

This policy should be read alongside:

- Behaviour and Relationship Policy
- Teaching and learning policy
- Safeguarding and Child Protection policy
- SEND policy / information report
- Pupil premium strategy

This policy will be reviewed annually, or sooner where statutory guidance changes.

Appendix 2: The school day, expectations, procedures & communication

Attendance Expectations

At High Point Academy, we know that every school day matters. Being in school helps pupils build friendships, develop positive relationships with staff, enjoy familiar routines and make progress with their learning. Good attendance also helps pupils feel part of our school community.

We understand that there can be times when attending school is difficult. We want families to feel able to talk to us so that we can listen, understand any barriers and work together to find solutions.

We encourage all pupils to attend as regularly as possible. We look at both attendance percentages, and the number of days pupils have missed, as every missed day is a missed opportunity to learn, connect and take part.

For example, when a pupil has missed five days, we will highlight this and may contact home to check in, understand the reasons for absence and offer support. We believe that recognising missed days helps families understand the importance of regular attendance and allows us to work together to address any concerns early.

Parents and carers must report any absence by 8:50am on the first day, giving the reason. Absences can be reported by:

- Calling school reception.
- Sending a message through ClassDojo.
- Using the MyChildAtSchool (MCAS) app.

Please keep school updated if your child remains absent.

For sickness and diarrhoea, pupils must remain at home until 48 hours after their last episode.

We aim to identify attendance concerns early and offer support. Attendance below 95% is used as an early monitoring trigger, alongside the number of days missed.

Punctuality Expectations

- The school day runs from 8:50am to 3:10pm.
- Morning registration: 8:50am–9:20am.
- Afternoon registration: 1:05pm–1:20pm.

We want every pupil to feel welcomed and ready for the day. Staff greet pupils each morning, whether they arrive independently at the school gate or travel by bus or taxi. Familiar members of staff meet and greet pupils as they arrive, helping them feel safe, settled and ready to learn.

Teaching staff are in form rooms ready to welcome pupils and begin the school day. Registers are taken during morning and afternoon registration.

Arriving on time helps pupils feel settled, enjoy the start of the day and make the most of their learning.

We understand that mornings can sometimes be challenging. If your child is regularly late, our Attendance Champions will work with you to understand what is happening and explore how we can help.

Registers are taken consistently at the same time for all pupils, in line with the July 2026 Working Together to Improve School Attendance guidance.

Pupils arriving after the morning or afternoon register has closed will be marked with a U code (arrived after the register closed), in line with statutory attendance coding. Please see Appendix 1: Attendance Codes for further information.

Daily Attendance Procedures

Each form group has a named Attendance Champion who builds positive relationships with pupils and families and supports good attendance.

If a pupil is absent and no contact has been received from home, the Attendance Champion will call home to establish the reason for absence and confirm the pupil's whereabouts.

Each form group has a named Attendance Champion who works closely with pupils and families to support good attendance.

For ongoing absence:

First day: If no reason has been provided, the Attendance Champion will call home to establish the reason for absence and confirm the pupil's whereabouts.

Subsequent days: Attendance Champions may call on a case-by-case basis to check how the pupil and family are managing, offer reassurance and provide support.

After three days: A home visit may be arranged, or a video call requested, to check that the pupil is safe and well and to discuss the absence with the family, in line with safeguarding procedures.

Non-attendance and persistent absence: Where a pupil is not attending school, has very low attendance or is persistently absent, school may arrange home visits or request a video call to check that the pupil is safe and well, establish their whereabouts and discuss barriers to accessing education. These checks may take place where contact with families has been unsuccessful or where there are concerns about a pupil's welfare. Families are expected to engage with school and support efforts to establish contact and discuss the pupil's absence.

Ongoing absence: School will work with the family to agree appropriate support. This may include an individual support plan or involvement from external professionals and Sandwell Local Authority.

Home Visits and Safeguarding

Home visits may be repeated where necessary, depending on the pupil's circumstances and level of concern. If we are unable to establish the pupil's whereabouts or confirm their safety, the matter will be escalated to the DSL. This may include a referral to Sandwell Children's Services or the police, depending on the circumstances and level of concern.

Any safeguarding concerns will be acted on immediately and will not wait for a set number of days.

Home visits form part of the school's attendance monitoring and safeguarding procedures. If contact cannot be established or a family does not engage, further action may be taken in line with safeguarding procedures and advice from the Local Authority.

All contact and actions will be recorded. Attendance concerns will be shared with senior leaders, and safeguarding concerns referred to the Designated Safeguarding Lead (DSL).

Children Missing Education (CME)

The school has a responsibility to identify and take appropriate action where a pupil is at risk of becoming, or has become, a Child Missing Education (CME). This includes pupils who are not receiving suitable education and whose whereabouts are unknown, or where there is no confirmation that they are registered at another educational setting.

Where a pupil stops attending school and their destination or educational arrangements cannot be confirmed, the school will make reasonable enquiries to establish their whereabouts and educational provision. This may include contacting parents/carers, carrying out home visits, contacting other relevant agencies and liaising with the Local Authority's CME team.

Where concerns remain unresolved, or there is reason to believe a child may be missing from education, the school will make a referral to Sandwell Children's Services or the appropriate Local Authority CME service, in line with statutory guidance and local procedures. The school will not remove a pupil from the admission register until the relevant statutory requirements have been met.

All contact, home visits, decisions, referrals and actions will be accurately recorded. Attendance concerns will be shared with senior leaders, and safeguarding concerns referred to the DSL. The school will continue to work with the family, Local Authority and relevant agencies to ensure the pupil's safety and access to suitable education.

Providing Attendance Information to Parents and Carers

We believe that working in partnership with families is key to supporting good attendance. We want parents and carers to understand how their child's attendance is developing and feel comfortable talking to us about any concerns. High Point Academy follows the Inclusive Attendance Framework. We recognise that anxiety, sensory needs, communication difficulties, transitions, medical needs and emotional wellbeing can all affect attendance.

We take time to understand each pupil's circumstances and listen to families. We will consider individual needs, make appropriate adjustments and work together to find ways to make attending school as positive and manageable as possible.

We share attendance and punctuality information through:

- Attendance updates.
- Attendance letters highlighting concerns and the number of days missed.
- End-of-year reports.
- Telephone calls and messages.
- ClassDojo and MCAS.
- Attendance clinics to discuss concerns and offer support.
- Formal attendance meetings where further support or action is needed.
- Meetings and parents' evenings.

We aim to highlight concerns early, including when a pupil has missed five days, so that we can check in with families and offer support before difficulties increase.

These conversations are an opportunity to understand barriers, celebrate improvements, agree support and review progress. Our communication will always aim to be open, respectful and supportive.

Local, up-to-date detail on penalty notice thresholds and amounts are:

High Point Academy follows Sandwell Metropolitan Borough Council's Penalty Notice Code of Conduct.

Threshold: A penalty notice may be considered when a pupil has 10 unauthorised sessions (usually five school days) within a rolling 10-school-week period.

First penalty notice: £80 if paid within 21 days, increasing to £160 if paid within 28 days.

Second penalty notice: £160, payable within 28 days.

Further offences: A maximum of two penalty notices can be issued to the same parent for the same child within a rolling three-year period. Further offences may result in alternative legal action, including prosecution.

Penalty notices are issued by Sandwell Local Authority following a referral from school. A Notice to Improve may be used where appropriate to give families an opportunity to engage with support and improve attendance.

We will always aim to work with families and offer support to improve attendance. However, where unauthorised absence continues, the Local Authority may take further action, including issuing fines or pursuing prosecution.

The full details are available through Sandwell Council's school attendance information.

We recognise that every pupil's circumstances are different, so we celebrate personal progress as well as excellent attendance.

Promoting Good Attendance

We celebrate attendance and appreciate the support of our families through a range of activities and rewards, including:

Home/School Agreement: Promoting shared responsibility for good attendance.

At High Point Academy, we believe that attendance should be celebrated at every level, not just when a pupil achieves 100%. We recognise that every pupil's circumstances are different and that success can look different for everyone. We celebrate improved attendance, personal achievements, positive steps and the effort pupils make to attend school more regularly. We want every pupil to feel valued and proud of their progress, recognising that even small improvements can be a significant achievement.
